

Market supply (derivation)

A market consists of 2 suppliers, A and B. The market supply is derived from the individual supply curves by adding them horizontally.

Similarly, the market demand can be derived.